ALMA MATER

Our strong band can ne'er be broken
Formed in Rutland High,
Far surpassing wealth unspoken,
Sealed by friendship's tie.
"Amici usque ad aras,"
Deep graven on each heart,
Shall be found unwav'ring true
When we from life shall part.

Foreword

This is the 1960 TALISMAN, a pictorial narrative of our high school years. During these years we have been building foundations for the future. These foundations for life — and life is a continual process of education — we have tried to build firmly with the aid of excellent materials, our books and our teachers. We sincerely hope that our TALISMAN will demonstrate to you the effort we have expended in making solid these foundations.

Dedication

The Class of 1960 is greatly indebted to Miss Lucy Doane. As youngsters in the grades, we came under her influence as we traced in crayon our childish masterpieces or daubed happily with paint and brush. Those of us who continued as pupils in her high school art classes — while we may never become Rembrandts or Picassos — have come to appreciate the beauty and meaning in art and its significance in our daily lives.

Her talent has contributed to practically every phase of high school life. A striking stage set, an attractive poster in the corridor, a gay mobile dangling over the office desk, an impressive decorative theme — all have been fashioned under her genial supervision.

Miss Doane, as artist, teacher, and friend, we salute you, and proudly dedicate to you our 1960 TALISMAN.

MAYNARD C. ROBINSON
 PRINCIPAL

Best wishes to you, the Class of 1960, as you begin your first year as alumni of Rutland High School:

One of the wonderful things about our life in the United States of America is our privilege of making choices. Between birth and death we are constantly being confronted with the necessity of making decisions. On these decisions, these choices we are free to make, we build the foundations of our lives.

The choices you made in high school had much to do with the quality and the strength of the foundations you have laid for your future lives. Now as graduates you still have choices to make. May you have the courage to make choices that will keep your foundations firm and make your lives rich and rewarding.

FELLOW CLASSMATES

We are about to be graduated. The ceremony, which takes but a matter of minutes, is the climax of our approach to adulthood. A sad feature of our school years is that one may look back and say, all too easily, "Here it began, and there it ended." And this statement is true; there it began and now it ends. No post-graduate course or reunion can ever return these years to us; it can only remind us.

To think, however, that sentimental recollection should ever preclude immediate purposes would indeed be foolish. We shall feel nostalgia, but we shall be careful not to let it blind us. The tasks we shall attack next must always be our first concern.

The Class of 1960 is truly appreciative of the efforts of family and faculty in preparing us. It is impossible to express the gratitude we feel; I can only offer a token thank-you. Our real thank-you will be any successes we may achieve in the future. I assure you that the Class of 1960 plunges into the future with eagerness and anticipation that can only result in success.

English

Students at R.H.S. learn to use the English language, spoken and written, to the best of their ability. In addition, they read and criticize great literature of the past and present. Many students take part in the annual Vermont Edmunds Essay and Poetry Society of Vermont contests.

One of Miss Flynn's Junior English classes works on a composition project.

Mrs. Hinchey watches over a Senior College Preparatory class while they take one of her carefully devised tests.

Mr. Teta instructs a group of juniors in the mechanics of poetry.

Mr. Robillard makes those French verb forms sound so easy.

Language

Students in the language courses at R. H. S., in addition to learning how to read and speak the languages themselves, become acquainted with the cultures of other lands and peoples, both ancient and modern.

A French II class carries on a lively conversation with Mrs. Mangan.

Miss Buttles guides a class in Latin II through a translation from Caesar.

A modern history class conscientiously take notes as Mr. Short lectures.

Social Science

The social sciences provide the student with a knowledge not only of the past but of today's events and problems as well. Courses in U.S. History, modern European and world history, economics, and sociology are offered.

Members of a world history class receive final directions before beginning test.

Seniors find the school library a source of information when preparing a research project in U. S. History.

David Chioffi assists Mr. Martin as the latter explains lenses to physics class.

Sophomore biology students show projects to an interested group of visitors on Science Night.

James Mills performs an experiment in a senior chemistry class.

Science

In an age when scientific advances are almost daily headline news, it is no wonder that many students take advantage of the varied science curriculum offered at R.H.S. Here are laid the foundations for many future scientific careers.

Mathematics

Mr. Boyce explains a problem in Algebra II to David Hinsman as fellow classmates listen.

Mr. Martin's geometry class presents a study in concentration.

The importance of the study of mathematics as the key to much of our scientific knowledge has assumed larger-than-ever proportions in this, the Age of Science. Here at R.H.S. a variety of mathematics courses help the student to lay a firm foundation for careers in business, science, and engineering.

These Algebra III students seem to find the subject amusing.

BUSINESS

Mr. McKerley lectures to a class in consumer economics.

Bonnie Johnson and Beverly Whitney use adding machine in Bookkeeping I class.

In an industrial age such as ours the preparation of young people for positions in business is an important aim of high school education. At R.H.S. the business education department offers secretarial, bookkeeping, and clerical programs to fit the needs of varying abilities and interests. Classes in personal typing are also offered for students in the college preparatory course.

A group of salesmanship students show interest in the product Gertrude Walker is demonstrating.

EDUCATION

Don Bordeau uses his selling ability on a number of hard-to-convince "customers".

Norm MacKenzie persuades Trina Edwards that she should invest in this machine as Alan Greenwood approves.

Dale Robinson gives Patricia Ryan the blind-fold test.

A class in Personal Typing takes speed test while Mrs. Bartlett supervises.

TRADE AND

Mr. Czina gives instruction to class in new electronics laboratory.

A class in general metal working evaluates with Mr. Miller a piece of work done by class member.

Mr. Henry L. Doll, Director of Trade and Industrial Education, says, "We have provided courses to more than 5000 regular and evening students since the program was started twenty years ago."

A machine shop class is shown the working of a surface grinder by Mr. Hebert.

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION

Mr. Hull, auto mechanics instructor, supervises work on an automobile engine.

Mr. Manchester gives instruction to a group of drafting students.

Mr. Doll, department head, instructs a group of boys in the use of the circular saw.

Physical Education

While the academic subjects serve to foster the ideal of the well-trained mind, a required three-year course in physical education helps to build the sound body that complements it.

A mixed gym class enjoys a lively square dance.

Girls take to the outdoors for a game of softball.

Driver Education

At a period when the highway accident toll is at an all-time high, no subject is of more practical value than that which trains young people to be careful, skillful drivers.

A group starts out for an after-school driving lesson.

Larry Craig, Norm MacKenzie, Dawn Dashner, and Pat Arnold fashion a snow sculpture for the Winter Carnival. What is it — a dinosaur?

Lane Vargas, Dave Eddy, and Steve Russell concentrate their attention on a drafting project.

Two future scientists demonstrate a Tesla Coil for Science Night visitors.

What gives here? Planning a ski trip in the library?

Stage technician Jim Cobb at the controls.

To educate young women in the various homemaking skills and to prepare them for family life, Rutland High School offers a number of related courses taught by Mrs. Helen Sloan. Included are food preparation, nutrition, clothing construction, child care, home nursing, budgeting, and home decoration.

Miss Sims, substitute teacher, gives a class some useful tips on buying clothing.

H o m e m a k i n g

Trina Edwards, homemaking student, serves Miss Sims and her twin sister at N.H.S. banquet.

Bob Hewett concentrates on a piece of sculpture.

Art

Besides learning the fundamentals of design, lettering, and color relativity, students under the supervision of Miss Lucy Doane produce outstanding creative work in drawing, painting with various media, and sculpture.

Varied expressions show students' absorption in their projects.

New experiences in art are shared by classmates.

All the ingredients of melodrama—a gloomy mansion, an unexplained murder, heirs assembled for the reading of a will, a beautiful necklace which had disappeared—were mixed into three acts of excitement and mystery in THE CAT AND THE CANARY, which the Senior Class staged on November 19 and 20.

The director, Mrs. Mildred G. Crowley, and the cast which included Leslie Pratt, Dan Onion, Bruce Maccabee, Robert Smith, Jo-Anne Johnston, Pat Arnold, George Ambrose, Billie Templeton, Jack Welch, and Jim Maynes, worked hard to present one of the most successful dramatic productions in recent R.H.S. history.

The striking stage set, which presented unusual and difficult technical problems, was executed by a capable stage crew under the supervision of Hollis Anderson, stage manager.

The Littlest Angel takes a lesson in flying from Marsha Fletcher and Larry Craig.

Angels kneel as the Voice begins to speak.

And there is great rejoicing when the Child is born.

Rutland High School's Christmas gift to the community this year was the choral-pantomime, THE LITTLEST ANGEL, an adaptation of the famous children's classic by Charles Tazewell. Presented before a standing-room-only crowd in the auditorium on December 17, this touching story has for its setting the heavenly realms. An unhappy and lonely new angel arrives at the celestial gate, minus his handkerchief. The Gate Keeper, annoyed by the sniffing of the newcomer, blots a page of his record book! Thus a series of troubles pile up for the Littlest Angel, climaxed by the problem of a present for the Christ Child. However, his humble gift of precious childhood possessions is accepted by God as most suitable for His Son.

The Littlest Angel rehearses approach to the heavenly portal.

Mr. Alexander directs Chorus in accompanying carol.

STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS

Norman MacKenzie, Secretary; Larry Craig, President; Stuart Savage, Vice-President; Edward Pike, Treasurer.

"Fresh candy for sale, benefit of the Student Council!" This call was the watch-word of the members of the foremost candy-vendor group in the school, the R.H.S. Student Council. The organization sold candy from one end of the year to the other; and with the money so earned managed to send candidates for office as well as delegates to the November State Student Council Convention in Hartford.

Besides purchasing several awards for the final assembly, the group also presented two new dance codes to the faculty for consideration. Each one dealt with a different aspect of the school dances.

Larry Craig, as president, guided the group.

National Honor Society

Chopsticks and shrimp chop suey were the order of the day as seventeen new members sat down to the annual spring induction banquet of the National Honor Society. At the banquet, prepared and served by the Future Homemakers of America, eleven juniors and seven seniors joined the eight members chosen last year and faculty guests.

Besides sponsoring this banquet, the group of eight seniors also purchased one new robe to be used at the annual induction ceremony and a foot locker for storage of the society's equipment. These purchases were made with money earned by selling candy at basketball games.

Jared Wright was president of the organization.

MEMBERS ELECTED IN 1960

Seated, left to right: L. VanBuskirk, N. Grant, P. Wener, D. Handler, D. Casella, L. Pratt, W. Murphy. Standing: Mr. Carroll Hull, Adviser; G. Bellerose, D. Chioffi, D. Hinsman, S. Freeman, S. Davis, S. Savage, W. Carrara, W. Flagg, J. Ruppe, A. McCoy; missing from picture, Marsha Fletcher.

Boys' And Girls' S t a t e

Eleven boys and four girls represented R.H.S. at the 1959 Boys' and Girls' States. The girls' program was conducted at Green Mountain College in Montpelier while the boys' activities were held at Norwich University in Northfield. Each group organized and participated in a mock Vermont state government. "It was a wonderful experience," said R.H.S. delegate Susan Davis, who was elected Secretary of State of Girls' State.

Anderson, W. Herrick, W. Davidson.

Wendy stands firm as the "masses" come charging by.

A gala Holly Ball at Christmas and a card party in February sponsored by the Monitor Squad were outstanding affairs on the 1959-60 social calendar. The squad, comprised of thirty members of the senior class chosen by the faculty for leadership and an interest in service, kept traffic moving and maintained order in the corridors during the three-minute breaks between classes.

Although the BLACK AND BLUE was published only once, the April Fool issue highlighted the year's efforts of a staff led by Dina Handler, editor-in-chief; Dan Onion, news editor; Jo-Anne Johnston, feature editor; and Jim Maynes, sports editor.

The senior staff members will proudly remember the first semester honor rating received from the National Scholastic Press Association. The honor was the first such rating the RED AND WHITE had received in over eight years.

To put a climax to a most successful year, the staff members held a banquet in the early spring, at which time the new staff members were initiated. The senior vacancies will be filled by David Chioffi, editor-in-chief; Frances Thurber, news editor; Diane Casella, feature editor; and David Hinsman, sports editor. Burgess Smith will hold the position of associate editor, unfilled previous to this year.

This year the Rutland High School chorus, greatly augmented by sophomores, continued to delight Rutland audiences. As their Christmas gift to the community the group presented "The Littlest Angel", a musical pantomime starring Thomas Hubbard in the title role.

Ten members of the group attended the Mount Royal Music Festival in Montreal. Several more traveled to the All-State and All-New England Festivals.

CAST OF HALLOWE'EN ASSEMBLY SKIT

A hilarious skit, "Peter Gonne's Hallo-we'en," a clever parody of the Peter Gunn television program with an anti-vandalism theme, featured Key Club activities during the past year. This active service club, composed of boys chosen from all three classes, also presented a successful dance, conducted program sales and furnished ushers for basketball games, and took over the job of delivering guidance appointment slips in home rooms every morning. Money-raising projects included a car wash and a slave auction in which the boys were auctioned to Kiwanis Club members for a variety of chores.

G.A.A. members display some of their famous cooking.

More than 200 members enjoyed sports and sociability at the Thursday night meetings of the Girls' Athletic Association. Membership in the organization is required of all girls who participate in girls' sports.

Particular activities of the year included participation in the Rutland Winter Carnival Sculpturing Contest, a record-hop entitled "Sadie's Swing", and two sumptuous tasting suppers.

Officers were Patricia Arnold, president; Marsha Fletcher, vice-president; Wendy Murphy, secretary; and Susan Waterman, treasurer.

International Relations Club

Two significant lecture programs sponsored by the I.R.C. highlighted the year's activities. "Getting Along with Russia," featured several renowned guest speakers, and Dr. Stephen Freeman of Middlebury College presented a travelogue of Africa accompanied by colored films. Another activity was sponsorship of the annual United Nations contest examination. The winner, Martha Beebe, attended the Model U.N. Assembly at Plymouth, N.H., Teachers' College. Judy Burke was the club's candidate for Winter Carnival Queen.

The major project of the Rutland High School Science Club this year was the presentation of a science assembly for the Junior High School. Brian Pease, Bruce Maccabee, Richard Gile, Richard Morton, and Olaf Johnson as well as President George Ambrose were among the demonstrators. Mr. John Martin was the faculty adviser.

ART CLUB

Art Club members did everything this year from making a grandfather's clock for the Senior Play to carving miniature figures out of soap. Under the direction of Miss Lucy Doane the students spent most of their time working on individual projects and hobbies, which, according to Rachel Bell, president of the group, ranged from sculpturing and painting to "just doodling."

FORENSIC SOCIETY

Rebuttals and rhetorical questions filled the air as the debate group finished its second year as an organized club. Under the direction of A. Glenn Parsons, faculty adviser, the club took trips to Arlington and Bennington, and participated in several debates. The subjects for debate this year were "Resolved: That federal control of labor unions should be substantially increased" and "Resolved: That section 14 of the Taft-Hartley Act should be repealed."

Forensic Society

Seated: Lois Wright, John Angelis, Glenda Carlisle. Standing: Wayne Flagg, David Wright, Mr. A. Glenn Parsons, Adviser; Jared Wright, Peter Harmon.

Mangan, B. Conner, M. Costello, W. Murphy, K. Root, A. Becker. Third row: J. Savery, B. Maccabee, R. Smith, J. Cobb, G. Ambrose, F. Thurber, B. Smith.

Two delightful one-act plays, a farce, "How to Propose", and a true-to-life drama, "To the Lovely Margaret", were features of Mimes activity the past year. Proceeds of the plays were used to purchase new flats for the stage. In addition, make-up and stage crew workshops were held for underclassmen. A banquet at Barber's Restaurant climaxed the club year. Billie Templeton was president and Mrs. Elizabeth Greene, adviser.

Le Cercle Francais was newly organized for the purpose of advancing interest in the country and people of France. At the monthly meetings the members played French games, sang French songs, and ate refreshments provided by the club adviser, Mrs. Helen Mangan.

At the first meeting in the fall Elizabeth Olson was elected president; Diane Casella, vice-president; Paula Dulski, secretary; and Martha Rankin, Treasurer.

F.H.A. members played Santa to a family of seven at Christmas, spending many enjoyable hours in cooking, planning presents, and renovating articles of clothing for their adopted family. The club also catered for the annual banquet of the National Honor Society, serving a sumptuous Hawaiian meal to the 35 faculty members and students who attended. Billie Templeton served as president and Mrs. Helen Sloan, adviser.

Future Homemakers of America

Elaborate decorations and carols played by a time clock were the Christmas project of the Trade and Industrial Education Council during the holiday season. Other worthwhile projects were gifts of $25 each to the Havenwood School and the Crippled Children's Association, several visits to area industrial and business establishments, two intramural league basketball teams, and the gift of two movie screens to the high school. Besides these school and community activities, the group sponsored its own shop clean-up contests. Bill Jones served as president.

Rutland opened the season on a sad note by dropping the first game to a heavier Rice Memorial team at Burlington. The Raiders then went on to win the rest of their games. There were several close calls, but the well balanced squad consistently played good, hard football and were rewarded by the unofficial title of Southern Vermont champions. The Davidson twins were selected to the all-state third team, and several other Rutland players received honorable mention. All in all, the 1959 Rutland High School team was the finest to don the red and white in many a year.

Front row, left to right: N. Gilman, S. Freeman, G. Sargeant, W. Davis, Co-Captains; C. Heath, K. Keefe, D. Kent. Second row: J. Maynes, Manager; D. Hance, E. Hubbard, W. Malmgren, C. Anderson, P. Stickney, R. Smith, Leo F. Keefe, Coach; Barry Keefe, Mascot.

The 1959-60 Rutland High School basketball team experienced one of the most disappointing seasons in several years as it rang up a 11-9 record in pre-season and Southern Vermont competition.

After going through four encounters unscathed, the Raiders ran into trouble in their first league game, losing to Bellows Falls on December 22. From then on through the next five games the Red men played good ball, winning against such opponents as the Alumni, Windsor, Brattleboro, and West Rutland. At this point the Rutland hoopsters were tied for first place in the Southern Vermont League race.

Then they cooled off as M.S.J., Springfield, and West Rutland defeated them to dampen their chances for league leadership. But the Redmen scalped back with a pair of wins over Windsor and M.S.J. This was Rutland's last taste of victory, however, as Springfield, Bennington, Brattleboro, and Bellows Falls downed the Warriors in consecutive outings.

In tournament action, Rutland drew a play-off bid against Bellows Falls. The Terriers won 62-52 in a thrilling game to ring down the curtain on the Raiders' tourney hopes.

Forming the nucleus of this year's squad were six lettermen, seniors Winn Davis, George Sargeant, and Ed Armstrong, and juniors Charlie Heath, Steve Freeman, and Dean Kent. The latter trio did an admirable job up front. Sargeant and Davis showed their mettle under the boards while Heath and Armstrong blistered the basket with their shooting. Other members of the squad were Norm Gilman, Carl Anderson, Pete Stickney, Dan Hance, Rick Smith, and Walt Malmgren.

Kick 'em high, Roger!

A small squad of hard-working, competent boys comprised the cross country team this year. Going through their schedule without much fanfare, they ran up a 5-1 season record, defeating Vermont Academy and Springfield twice and splitting their two meets with Vergennes. They also earned a fourth place in the state meet at the University of Vermont, led by Roger Rumney's fifteenth place standing. Norm MacKenzie was the captain and led in team standing at the end of the season. With interest increasing yearly, cross country may yet rank in importance with football and basketball in the R.H.S. sports picture.

Bowling League

This year marked the first time that Rutland High School was represented by a bowling league. Included were eight teams which bowled every Friday and several times competed with teams from M.S.J. A tournament was held at the end of the season. James Mills served as the league president.

Golf

The golf team brought new athletic laurels to Rutland High School when it won the state interscholastic golf championship in October 1959. James Tyler, a senior, took individual honors by winning the southern Vermont scholastic crown in September. Several matches with schools in the southern area were played during the spring.

The track team ended the 1960 season with seven of its members attending the state meet in Burlington. Although as a squad it did not show up as well as expected, nevertheless, it was not devoid of individual stars. Dan Onion won several first places as well as a second in the district meet. Norm MacKenzie accumulated a large number of points through consistently high places in several events. Pete Stickney's discus and shot put throws also outclassed the competition. Roger Rumney showed everyone how the mile and the half-mile ought to be run with several outstanding victories. Running the high and low hurdles were Kim Chaffee and Jim Frappier, both of whom made the state meet. But the laurels for the outstanding performance of the year go to speedster Dean Kent, who finished with a first in the 100 and 200-yard dashes at the district, and second and third in the state meet.

Front: L. Swanson, L. Rosecrans. Second row, left to right: S. Olson, L. Petraglia, K. Root, Captain; D. Robinson, J. Wilder, D. Traver, L. Williams, Mrs. Eve Bartenstein, Coach. Third row: B. Conner, M. Traver, L. Farnham, A. White, J. Johnston, L. Squier, L. Farnham, M. Flynn, R. Brown.

The girls' varsity basketball team is composed of a selected group who display the necessary skills and interest in the sport. The members practice twice weekly to prepare for a schedule of interscholastic games. This year they met Brandon, Fair Haven, Ludlow, and West Rutland, on a home and away basis. They ended the season with a record of three wins and three losses.
